Pila Workstations

Helping you utilize the space more efficiently in open offices and businesses with varying number of employees, Pila workstations provide flexible and functional solutions for your needs.

In addition to creating workspaces where employees can focus on their individual tasks, Pila workstation also promotes communication, revitalizing team spirit. Pila workstations feature extension tables, middle panels, and cabinets, establishing a variety of combinations to suit your company's work style and different number of employees. Table slabs of Pila feature sliding mechanism, facilitating access to electrical connections and preventing cable mess and visual pollution.

Pila workstations can be adjusted for different lines of business with a variety of accessory choices, providing an option to customize personal workspace. Featuring a leg option with veneer over metal, Pila creates an elegant and cosy atmosphere in all spaces.

Pila workstations enable designing your entire institution in the same design language with meeting tables, single tables, and workstations.
